(QFIN) ("360 Finance" or the "Company"), a leading digital consumer finance platform, today announced that it has signed a comprehensive strategic cooperation agreement with China Bohai Bank Co., Ltd. ("China Bohai Bank"), a national joint-stock commercial bank approved by the State Council in China.

Following three years of successful cooperation, 360 Finance and China Bohai Bank have agreed to strengthen their relationship by signing a comprehensive strategic cooperation agreement. Under the terms of the agreement, both parties will leverage their respective strengths to fortify relationships with major funding partners and develop higher-quality integrated financial services in order to offer more secure, convenient and inclusive finance for individuals in China. Going forward, both parties will jointly work to develop further opportunities in payment settlement, inclusive finance, retail finance, and corporate finance.

360 Finance has developed deep relationships with more than 50 licensed financial institutions represented by China Bohai Bank, such as the Industrial and Commercial Bank of China, China Everbright Bank, and China Minsheng Bank. 360 Finance works closely with these financial institutions to apply artificial intelligence to customer acquisition models and customer service to help them efficiently acquire customers and reduce customer acquisition costs and labor costs by more than 50% and 95%, respectively. 360 Finance also deploys its cutting-edge risk management system to safeguard the assets of financial institutions. As of March 31, 2019, the Company's 90 day+ delinquency ratio was 0.94% and fraud loss rate was 0.2%.

Mr. Jun Xu, Chief Executive Officer and Director of 360 Finance, commented, "We have focused our resources on the development trend of new economy, new consumption, new finance. To reshape the market structure, the positioning of fintech companies should be based on the horizontal axis of data intelligence, which in turn provides support for the vertical axis of financial institutions. By exploring more opportunities for cooperation, we continue to improve efficiency, reduce costs and optimize user experience in all aspects of our financial services as we strive to make China's consumer finance industry a benchmark for the global industry."

Mr. Li Fu'an, Chairman of China Bohai Bank, commented "Emerging internet finance is booming. To grow and develop, we must innovate and look at newer areas of collaborations. Banks need to rebuild their own ecosystem, in which fintech companies will play a critical role making them indispensable. Together, banks and financial institutions must face changes head on by approaching new challenges with the help of fintech. Fintech companies can support new development models and reshape the consumer finance market structure."

China Bohai Bank is the first national joint-stock commercial bank approved by the State Council in 1996. It is also the first Chinese-funded commercial bank to introduce overseas strategic investors at the launch stage. China Bohai Bank ranked 187th in British magazine The Banker's Top 1000 World Bank 2018.
